

Summary

This report summarizes the early model development phase that followed the initial feasibility assessment. Whereas the model has evolved since the development stage in 1993, much of the general information is useful towards understanding the issues involved with the model development.